Our most popular piece of wooden outdoor exercise equipment. Our pull up bars comprise of solid oak or natural looking robinia uprights and stainless steel bars, making them perfect for parks, gardens and playgrounds. Hand crafted using the highest quality materials in our UK workshop, the pull-up bars look great in the back garden. With no moving parts, these pull up bars are as robust as possible and require very little maintenance. Probably the simplest but most effective piece of outdoor exercise equipment on the market.

Pull up bars exercise a multitude of muscle groups in the upper body including fingers, arms, back and chest. There are many variations of exercises that can be done with pull up bars that can be done by a wide range of ability. This makes them an extremely effective piece of outdoor fitness equipment.
